„Lost and Found“

When I'm lost, I am lost, fully lost in the darkness. So alone I can't find a way out.
There I stray, as if blind, 'til I sense tender breezes gently pointing me towards a new light.

I will search out the lost, I will gather the scattered.
I will bandage the bones which are broken.
I will strengthen the weak, I will heal all your sickness. For I am the shepherd, you are my sheep.

Find me. You are found.
Hold me. You are held.
Bind me. You are bound up.
Heal me. You are whole.

Find me God, bring me back.
Bring me back to the fold where your sheep safely flock all as one.
Heal me God from my pain, when my blindness overtakes me.
Let me bask in the warmth from Your sheep.

I will search out the lost,
I will gather the scattered.
I will bandage the bones which are broken.
I will strengthen the weak,
I will heal all your sickness.
For I am the shepherd,
you are my sheep.

Find me. You are found.
Hold me. You are held.
Bind me. You are bound up.
Heal me. You are whole.
